

POINTS

for family travel

Once I discovered the magic of traveling with credit card points eight years ago when looking for ways to save money and travel with our family of six, I knew other families were missing out on these same beautiful trips, simply because they thought that they were out of reach. Since then I've shared tips, guides & info re: all things travel & points on Instagram, Facebook & my blog. This is my passion and I love seeing my followers learn how to take their families on trips they never thought were possible!
